

Psychologist (1.0 FTE)

Te Marae Ora, Ministry of Health, Full time, Permanent, Rarotonga, Cook Islands

Join our team for this new role, working with Police, Corrections and Courts we provide holistic, culturally appropriate, clinically sound care in a beautiful environment. This role allows creativity, team work, and provides an amazing opportunity to cultural upskill, while directly contributing to people's lives, and creating a systems of wellbeing.

About you:

We are looking for a Psychologist who has experience in providing:

- Comprehensive psychological assessments, risk management and treatment recommendations for people in custodial / forensic/ offending community sectors
- enjoys training and working with communities, and other agencies.
- enjoys incorporating cultural and faith based element into practice
- be registered in country of origin.

About the role:

- To provide psychological services for clients in community settings and staff managing clients at the Ministry of Health, Ministry of Justice, Cook Islands Police and Ministry of Corrective Services;
- To provide quality clinical mental health services to patients diagnosed with a mental illness/disorder, and to facilitate the recovery of persons of all ages with mental illness within and across health and social services.
- Maintain the focus of care in community health based settings.

This is a full time (35 hours per week) role based in Rarotonga, however there may flexibility within the role. Te Marae Ora mental health team is team that covers mental health promotion, primary and secondary mental healthcare in community. We work in culturally appropriate, invoke ways to create best outcomes, for our clients, families, community and country

For more information contact Human resources MOH.HR@cookislands.gov.ck