

Clinical Psychologist – ADHD, & Autism | Beehyve

Join a team that truly understands neurodiversity.

At Beehyve, we support our community with ADHD and Autism assessments, alongside thoughtful, tailored therapy. You'll work alongside a collaborative team that shares ideas, adapts together, and values doing things well.

The role

- ADHD assessments, where complex or overlapping symptoms may be present
- Therapy with a small, well-matched adult caseload (18+)
- Telehealth delivery within a collaborative team

You'll work alongside GPs to support medical aspects of care where appropriate, and practise within agreed clinical frameworks and professional guidelines. Autism assessment experience is valued but not absolutely required.

What matters to us

- Clear, inclusive communication that empowers clients
- Curiosity, creativity, and openness to new approaches
- Flexibility to adapt to each person's needs
- Being genuine, fair, and grounded in strong ethics

You

- NZ-registered Clinical Psychologist
- Interested in neurodiversity-affirming practice
- Thoughtful, reliable, and easy to work with

Flexible, contractor-based work with autonomy over your availability.

If you're looking for meaningful work in a team that values people, perspective, and doing things properly, we'd love to hear from you.
