

VICTORIA UNIVERSITY OF
WELLINGTON
TE HERENGA WAKA

Senior/Consultant Clinical Psychologist

School of Psychology Wellington

- Are you a registered Clinical Psychologist in New Zealand with over five years of clinical experience?
- Do you have proven experience as a clinical supervisor?
- Are you able to effectively work with a wide range of different people?

Kōrero mō te tūranga - About the role

Te Herenga Waka - Victoria University of Wellington is currently recruiting a Senior/Consultant Clinical Psychologist to join the Clinical Psychology Training Programme as a Clinical Practice Advisor. This is a permanent role, two days per week (0.4FTE).

The role will involve the following:

- Supervision of clinical psychology students in the Clinical Psychology Centre (Kelburn Campus)
- The potential for being involved in teaching activities across the programme
- Input into the training curriculum

Mōu - About you

You will be an experienced Clinical Psychologist with experience working in New Zealand. You will be passionate about investing in the future of our profession and enjoy supervising, teaching, and working in an intellectually stimulating environment. Your training and work experience will be from a predominantly behavioural/cognitive-behavioural/'third-wave' approach. Being knowledgeable about Te Ao Maori and bicultural ways of working would be an added benefit.

Key requirements:

- Registered with the NZ Psychologists Board in the Clinical Psychology scope of practice
- Minimum of five years post-graduate experience
- Experience working in the New Zealand public sector
- Previous experience supervising students

Why you should join our team

Our team is a mix of clinical academics and practising clinicians. It's an intellectually stimulating environment with a focus on training students from an evidence-based, biculturally-informed perspective. The team has a high level of trust and mutual respect. The work is rewarding as you see developments and growth in student learning plus help provide a low-cost service to the general public.
