About the Imago Institute for Relationships

Brenda Rawlings and Peter McMillan are amongst New Zealand's leading relationship experts. They have been specialising in working with couples for 25 years and have been presenting Imago Clinical Training for Psychologists, Psychotherapists and Counsellors in both New Zealand and Australia, since 2007. They are Certified Imago Relationship Therapists, Workshop Presenters and Clinical Instructors and were the first therapists outside of Nth America to be accepted onto the Faculty of the Imago International Training Institute based in USA. Brenda was Dean of the Imago International Training Institute from 2011 to 2016 and recipient of the Harville Hendrix Award for Clinical Excellence, 2013. In the last 25 years, they have participated in trainings in most major couples' modalities, including extensive training in EFT. They bring this knowledge, expertise and integration to the trainings they present in NZ and Australia.

Internship in Relationship Therapy

The Imago Institute for Relationships is initiating an Internship Programme for Counsellors, Psychologists and Psychotherapists in the greater Auckland region. Join a vibrant and passionate team. Train with relationship experts Brenda Rawlings and Peter McMillan in a supportive, educational environment. This is a unique opportunity to receive referrals and training and supervision in one of the premier couples' therapies available today.

We are looking for:

- ✓ experienced relationship therapists who wish to expand their knowledge and clinical skills, receive more referrals and become experts in the field
- ✓ counsellors, psychologists and psychotherapists who wish to specialise in relationship therapy by receiving referrals and expert training and supervision

To enter the Internship, you will need to attend the two day Imago Fundamentals Training in Auckland, on either 07/08 May or 18/19 June 2021. See FLYER
